

Aragónit

A photograph of a cave interior. The walls are covered in large, light-colored, crystalline mineral deposits, likely aragonite. The cave is dimly lit, with a person standing in the distance, wearing a red and blue jacket and a headlamp, providing a sense of scale. The floor is dark and rocky.

2019

Správa slovenských jaskýň

24/1

ISSN 1335-213X

